NAINA'S 3rd CLINICAL EXCELLENCE/LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

NAINA invites you to submit an abstract for a poster or oral presentation for the NAINA's 3rd Clinical Excellence Conference in New York.

Purpose

The purpose of the conference is to maximize opportunities for NAINA members to showcase their experience and expertise relevant to the conference theme. We encourage clinical nurses, advanced practice registered nurses, nurse leaders, scholars, educators, researchers, and nurses from various specialties to reflect, reinforce, and rebuild knowledge and deeper understanding in advancing health equity and building resilience in the profession of nursing.

Conference Objectives:

1. The learner will identify and incorporate strategies towards reflecting, reinforcing, and rebuilding a culture of innovation and resilience in nursing practice, education, research, and leadership by bridging the health equity gaps.

2. The learner will analyze the challenges in interpreting the influence of health equity in the nursing profession.

3. The learner will demonstrate increased knowledge in building resilience among nurses.

4. The learner will integrate novel knowledge and innovative evidenced based interventions to advance equity within healthcare delivery systems.

5. The learner will formulate opportunities for an interprofessional approach for clinical excellence and leadership.

Abstract Submission Specifics:

1. All communications related to abstract submissions to be done through nainaeducation@gmail.com

2. Abstract submission deadline is on August 20, 2021 (11:59 PM Eastern Time)

3. Podium presentation topics need to be relevant to the conference theme of Advancing Health Equity and Building Resilience. Posters may have relevant topics to professional practice, research, education, and leadership.
